

About Starbuck James

Starbuck James is a high quality Executive Search and Selection company formed in 2003, based in Mayfair, London. We are driven in accordance with our Company Values.

We fundamentally operate in two ways:

- Through consultation with the client we establish a complete understanding of their executive requirements. We then seek to fulfil these requirements to the client's complete satisfaction. We do this by a variety of means.
- For outstanding candidates, we proactively seek to identify a role to match their requirements. Our market expertise is such that we are frequently able to find roles for candidates in organisations who do not have current vacancies.
