

Starbuck James

Welcome to Starbuck James, a high quality Executive Search and Selection company.

During our careers we have worked within various business sectors, including a major UK retail bank, a US owned technology multinational and leading UK search and selection companies.

Throughout this time we have experienced many recruitment practices that significantly failed to meet the expectations and aspirations of the client or the candidate. This is often due to recruiters handling high volumes of assignments and candidates simultaneously, leading to a lack of focus, lack of control and degradation of service.

At Starbuck James, our aim is to show that recruitment can exceed the highest expectations. We operate on a very selective basis, only undertaking assignments on behalf of clients and candidates where we know we can deliver a superb service. Our aim is simple: we want Starbuck James to be great to do business with.
